Bank Robbery Try Fails in Waupaca

AWOL Youth From Amherst
Held, Also Charged With Robbery of Service Station

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — What police allege was a short-lived crime spree began and ended here early Friday evening for a 19-year-old rural Amherst youth who faces charges of attempted bank robbery, and armed robbery.

David E. Kealiher, route 1, was arraigned this morning in Municipal Justice Court here. He is being held in the Waupaca County Jail.

Authorities allege that within a one-hour period, that started about 6:10 p.m. Friday, Kealiher attempted to hold up the First National Bank, robbed a 14-year-old service station attendant of $46 and scuffled with police before his arrest on Main Street at 7:11 p.m.

Speck, sole occupant of the basement cell block, completed the first week of his trial Friday, silently watching the unsuccessful attempts to impanel a jury.

The state and the defense questioned 124 prospective jurors during the first week of the trial and at Friday's adjournment had disqualified all but three—two men and a woman.

Most of the trial dealt with the said Flynn in his closing argu- ments. The victim, now 22, married and the mother of two, told ju- rors about the night she was attacked. She was told by Judge Wren that she could mention Miranda's name but she could not point him out in the court- room.

Judge Wren said Miranda would be sentenced at the con- vention of the counsel. He could receive 20 to 50 years. Until he is sentenced, Miran- da will be held in the Maricopa County Jail. He is serving time in the state prison on a robbery charge filed against him shortly after he was arrested for rape and kidnapping.

His attorney says he also will ask for a high court ruling on the robbery conviction. He claims the circumstances of that conviction and the rape conviction are identical.

"This witness has been known to lie on the witness stand," conviction are identical.

Peasants Hit Mao Forces In Kweichow

Seed Warehouses
Sacked; Loot Is Sold for Profits

TOKYO (AP) — Peasants in Communist China's Kweichow Province, where party chair- man Mao Tse-tung's "revolutionary rebel" claimed victory Feb. 14, have swarmed into the cities and attacked pro-Maoist forces, a provincial radio broad- cast reported today.

It said army units were called out belatedly to guard ware- houses holding seed for spring planting, but the peasants al- ready had seized the stock, sold it and split the profits. The broadcast gave no detail of fighting.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug, in a report from Pe- king, said pro-Mao authorities and the army command in Kweichow published an urgent announcement describing the situation as serious and blaming anti-Mao reactionaries and rich peasants for sending the farm- ers into the cities.

Punishment Promised

The agency said the provin- cial revolutionary committee issued an order which stated that "men in authority and other monsters" would be severely punished if they continued such activities and demanded that the peasants return to the farms as "the agricultural production will be jeopardized."

An unconfirmed report in Hong Kong said that the mili- tary commander of Sinkiang Province, Gen. Wang En-mao, seized control of China's two nuclear bases in that province earlier this month.

U.S. Infantry Flushes Large Viet Cong Unit

Action Is First
Big Confrontation
In 'Junction City'

SAIGON, (AP) — U.S. infantrymen flushed a company of Viet Cong in War Zone C today for the first sizeable contact with the enemy since the start of Operation Junction City, big- gest offensive of the war.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that the Viet Cong force, estimated at 115 men, melted into the jungle soon after they were hit by a battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division.

He said American casualties were light in the encounter. En- emy losses were not known.

The pace appeared to be gathering momentum in the massive drive as the tank-led U.S. troops tightened their horseshoe-shaped vise. The U.S. force re- ported killing 30 more Commu- nists in the last 24 hours to raise the total since they launched the operation to 49.

The brisk firefight with the Viet Cong company took place 20 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City, a U.S. spokesman report- ed.

Air Support

As soon as the infantrymen ran into Communist fire, he said, they called in supporting air strikes and artillery bar- rages and within a short time the enemy broke off the fight.

In addition to picking off snip- ers in a series of patrol skir- mishes, American troops have begun uncovering arms caches, base camps and enemy docu- ments.

U.S. headquarters reported that numerous enemy docu- ments were found by 1st Divi- sion units.

Knowles Requests Crackdown
On Anti-War Demonstrators

MADISON, (AP) — About 800 students have answered anti-war demonstrations at the Uni- versity of Wisconsin by rallying in zero-degree weather to cheer the policies of campus cancel- lator Robben Fleming.

"This is the first time I haven't felt lonely in a crowd, in days," said Fleming, who has vowed to bring in whatever force may be necessary to keep demonstrations orderly.

The rally was organized as a response to three days of pro- tests against job interviews on campus by Dow Chemical Corp., whose products include napalm used in the Vietnam conflict.

"Dow makes soap," read a sign carried by a counter-demon- strator at the rally.

Not All Beatniks
"We're not all beatniks," shouted sophomore John M. Kelly of Wisconsin Dells as the crowd cheered.

Kelly, chairman of the rally, said, "The radical left - wing organizations speak only for a small, vocal minority of stu- dents here."

The 800 students at the rally outnumbered the 500 students participating at the peak of the protest. But both figures are on- ly fractions of the 30,000 stu- dents on the university campus.

The fourth day of protest Fri- day was limited to a brief sit- in by 10 students.

The protests led to 17 arrests Wednesday when demonstrators tried to seal off access to the Dow interviews.

BRIDGEWATER, Mass. (AP) — The far flung resources of the FBI joined today in the wide- ening search for Albert H. De Salvo, 35, the self-proclaimed Boston strangler, who escaped early Friday from a mental hos- pital.

The FBI obtained a warrant charging DeSalvo with unlawful flight to avoid imprisonment for rape and suggested that $100,000 bail be asked on his capture.

Two fellow prisoner-inmates who escaped from the Bridge- water State Hospital with De- Salvo surrendered Friday night to officials of a state legislative commission investigating condi- tions at the hospital.

This pessimistic outlook for any peace talks at this time came Friday from U.S. officials who recalled the collapse of ne- gotiation efforts made earlier this month.

On the more hopeful side, U.S. officials said the Soviets now appear to be interested in a peace settlement along lines of the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agree- ments on Southeast Asia. Wash- ington might be willing to go along with that.

But the Kremlin apparently does not have enough influence on Hanoi leaders to change their stand, the officials said. They said Washington and Moscow therefore cannot, by dealing with each other, come up with a solution to the war.

Justice Department Action?

Powell Faces Possible Federal Prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department plans a prompt probe of evidence in the Adam Clayton Powell case with an eye toward possible prosecution, congressional sources said today.

Although the case file has not been transmitted yet to the department, the sources said members of the select commit- tee that investigated Powell have received assurances at the highest levels that all leads will be checked which suggest either congressional indiscretion or law violations.

Powell remains at his Bimini fishing retreat in the Bahamas. His lawyers are expected to meet over the weekend to decide how he should react to the committee's recommenda- tion that he be seated with a severe censure, loss of seniority and assessment of $40,000 from his salary.

Financial Dealings
Considerable material not contained in the committee's hearing record and report will be sent to the Justice Department, including information about Powell's financial deal- ings.

Sources say the committee ran into many roadblocks, some caused by a time shortage and others because the panel was unable to find any evidence of Powell's financial assets, out- side of his House bank account. Efforts to get information about bank accounts in the Bahama islands were unsuccessful.

The committee especially was interested in examining the ac- tivities and income of Huff Enterprises Ltd., the Bahamian corporation whose president is Corrine A. Huff, Powell's secre- tary and fishing companion on Bimini.

Part of the committee's rec- ommendation to the House is that Miss Huff be fired from the congressional payroll on grounds she is not performing any official duties in either Washington or New York where the Harlem Democrat's district is located.

Drawing Board Idea Keeps Pencils From Rolling Away

BY CAPPY DICK

Any boy or girl who uses a drawing board when sketching with pencils or crayons can make good use of today's fun-project idea. It's a way to prevent drawing instruments from rolling off the slanting board to the floor.

Attach a double roll of cleaners. Tape each cleaner as shown in Figure 1, using transparent tape.

The cleaners may be removed from the board any time you wish, simply by peeling off the tape. However, they serve such a handy purpose it is not likely you will want to dispose of them except when drawing paper being used is so large the rows of "stoppers" interfere with it.

Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

Transform one word into another word, one letter at a time, each time forming a good word, until the desired word is reached. For example, "FARM" can be changed into "HOME" in five steps: thus: FARM, FARE, DARE, DAME, HOME. Try these:

1. FULL to MOON in six steps.
2. LONE to WOLF in six steps.
3. TAME to LION in seven steps.
4. BOIL to STEW in eight steps.
5. TRUMP to SUITS in eight steps.
6. MAIN to STEM in ten steps.
1. FULL, pull, pool, cool, coon, MOON. 2. LONE, bone, hole, hold, gold, golf, WOLF. 3. TAME, tome, tore, more, morn, moon, loan, LION. 4. BOIL, coil, cool, coop, chop, show, stow, STEW. 5. Ask War Bonus Legislation for State Veterans

WW II, Korean GI's Heirs to Benefit From Proposed Bill

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — About 425,000 veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict and heirs of deceased veterans probably will be eligible for benefits if a new war service bonus bill presented in the legislature becomes law, the State Department of Veterans Affairs has estimated.

The department analyzed the measure presented by members of the Democratic legislative minority. Veterans' bonus bills have been presented in every legislative session since World War II, but have not gathered support because of the financing problems involved.

The new proposal evidently anticipates those difficulties and objections by asking for the payment of bonuses through the redemption of state-issued bonus certificates due and payable 15 years after they are issued. Such certificates would bear interest at the rate of 2 percent.

The state veterans' department calculated that the average bonus under the plan would be about $340, which would amount to about $144,000,000. The interest payments would amount to about $43,000,000 over the 15 year period, it was said.

The department also advised legislators that it will need nearly $5,000,000 to administer such a law, and that administration will be more costly today than if the state had authorized a bonus program earlier.

The evidence necessary to establish benefit eligibility, and especially evidence of the one year residency within the state before entry into service, will be more difficult to obtain in the average case than it was at the time bonuses were paid in most of the other states of the country, the department explained.

Drop Second Half

Chilton Tigers Beaten By Elkhart Lake, 78-72

ELKHART LAKE — The Chilton Tigers couldn't protect an early third period 15 point lead as they were outscored 50-33 in the second half of their game with Elkhart Lake and dropped their final Eastern Wisconsin Conference game, 78-72.

The Resorters win was their second of the season and both came at the expense of Chilton. The Tigers ended the league season with a 4-9 mark while the Resorters finished in the cellar with a 2-11 mark.

Elkhart Lake's Bill Arpke, seventh top scorer in the E-W, was the game's top point man with 27 points, evenly divided in all four quarters. Bill Kuhfuss, with 20 points and Tom Knecht with 19 points provided the Resorters with good scoring balance.

McHugh Leads
The Tigers were led by Don McHugh, who hit for 22 points while Mike Flemming and John Hauser added support with 11 points apiece.

Chilton broke from a one point first quarter advantage to a 11 point half-time lead and then added two quick buckets to start the second half to build up the 15-point margin but the Resorters rallied to close the score to 60-56 in Chilton's favor at the end of the third period.

Elkhart tied the score at 62-all and went ahead only to see Chilton come back to tie the score two more times before falling back as the Resorters started making good use of free throw opportunities.

Chilton outshot the Resorters 32-29 from the field but the Resorters had the big margin in free throws, 20-8. Elkhart Lake was charged with just 10 fouls for the entire game while the Tigers picked up 24 personal fouls with McHugh, Hauser and Flemming all being charged with five each and forced to leave the action early.

Start Tournament
The Tigers start play Feb. 26 in the WIAA sub-regional state tournament at Sheboygan Falls in the second game of the night against New Holstein. The first game card has Sheboygan Falls and Kiel meeting at 7 p.m.

I-S, Marion Finish Tied for 2nd in CW

Koehler Paces I-S Over 'Wega '5'; Mustangs Tip Manawa; 'Cats Win

Iola-Scandinavia and Marion High Schools tied for the Central Wisconsin Conference runner-up spot by notching victories in the league's final games Friday night.

The Thunderbirds whipped Wegauga, 72-58, while the Mustangs trimmed Manawa, 77-65, to finish with identical 6-4 conference marks. Champion Waupaca finished its CW slate last week with an 11-1 record.

In the other Central Wisconsin game, Wittenberg (3-9) kept Amherst (1-11) in the basement by a 59-53 score.

Chuck Koehler poured in 30 points to pace Iola to its victory. The T-Birds led at halftime, 40-35, and at the three quarter mark, 55-44.

Wegauga, plagued by 27 fouls, was led by Don Oehlke's 13 markers. Iola's Wayne Skowen and Bruce Budsberg each chipped in 15.

Marion jumped out to a 15-point lead at half, 38-23, and kept a safe lead the rest of the way to defeat Manawa. Ron Schewe with 20, Ron Radies with 18 and John Braun with 14 topped the Mustangs, while Dave Sabrowsky and Bob Paschl sparked the Wolves with 24 and 14 points, respectively.

Wittenberg scored the last five points of the game to squeeze past Amherst. Leading by one, 54-53, the Indians hit five straight free throws, three by Jerry Schmidt and two by Jim Stollenberg, to clinch the win.

Jerry Aanonson collected 17 points and Tom Dobbe 13 to pace Wittenberg, while Ray Swetella with 15 and Pat Krutza with 14 topped the Falcons.

Scots Battling To Confine Sin To English Half

Ministers View London as Seat of All Corruption

By GODFREY ANDERSON
EDINBURGH, Scotland, (AP) — Scottish churchmen are fighting to keep sin from crossing from England into Scotland. Sin in Scotland can mean a lot of things, especially on Sunday.

"Keep London out" cry ministers from pulpit and manse.

"The London-based clique of writers and artists is trying to corrupt the nation morally."

But Scotland's lads and lassies still flock from the rustic highlands to the lowland cities, where old Calvinist attitudes are bent by the bright lights and bingo halls.

"The same processes are really at work here as in England, but here we are a generation behind," says the Rev. Denis Duncan, a Church of Scotland minister who edits the nationally sold British Weekly.

"In Ireland, of course, they're still another generation behind us. But where England leads, we all follow."

Looks Like England
Urban Scotland looks much like urban England now. The lights flash and sparkle, the best music thumps, the clothes look straight out of Carnaby Street.

A movie theater of Edinburgh's fashionable Princes Street offers the double program "Kinky Darling" and "A Day of Sin." You can buy the same lurid paperbacks as in London's Soho, though they're seldom on open display.

In the notorious Gorbals District of Glasgow one Protestant church has been sold and turned into a bingo hall.

Only on Sunday does Scotland revert to its old-time Sabbath rectitude. There's no Sunday drinking—except for established "wayfarers" in the privacy of their hotels. A few movie theaters open in some cities in the evening, by rotation, but most people wouldn't dream of going.

Guilt Feeling
"There's still a feeling of guilt about enjoying yourself on Sundays," says the Rev. Mr. Duncan. "The Church of Scotland now permits Sunday recreation but seems divided about the form it should take. A football

Serra Clubs to Discuss Vocations in Green Bay

The Serra Clubs of Appleton, Oshkosh, Manitowoc and Green Bay have scheduled a Vocations Day from 2 to 5 p.m. March 5 at Fremont High School, Green Bay.

The purpose of the clubs is to promote religious vocations in the Catholic church.

From 2 to 2:30 p.m. keynote addresses will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Pat Crowley, Chicago, founders of Christian Family Movement and members of the papal study commission on birth control.

Separate programs for boys and their parents and girls and their parents are scheduled from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

The boys will hear the Rev. Alfred Lison, pastor, Nativity Parish, Green Bay; the Rev.

match would be disappointed, for example.

Three of Glasgow's major dance halls have applied for permission to open on Sunday. Only the Roman Catholic clergy supported the move.

Saying that this would "make a mockery of the Christian Sunday," the Lord's Day Observance Society warned:

"If these halls are opened, it means people will pour into the city center like they do on Friday and Saturday nights. The Sunday crime rate will soar."

The Church of Scotland is Presbyterian. A group split off from it, called the Free Kirk and known as the Wee Frees, forbids the driving of cars on Sunday. It showed, in the case of John Macdonald, that it means business.

Deacon Excommunicated
Macdonald was a popular deacon at Glasgow's Milton Free church. When he found the church cold and the congregation suffering because oil hadn't been delivered, he telephoned the distributors. They apologized and delivered the oil at once—on Sunday.

He was ordered excommunicated but the General Assembly of the Free Kirk found irregularities in handling of the case. Macdonald says that since his action—in 1963—many of the congregation who have known him 40 years refuse to shake hands.

Even if you can stop the Scots from playing on Sundays, that doesn't mean you can get them into church.

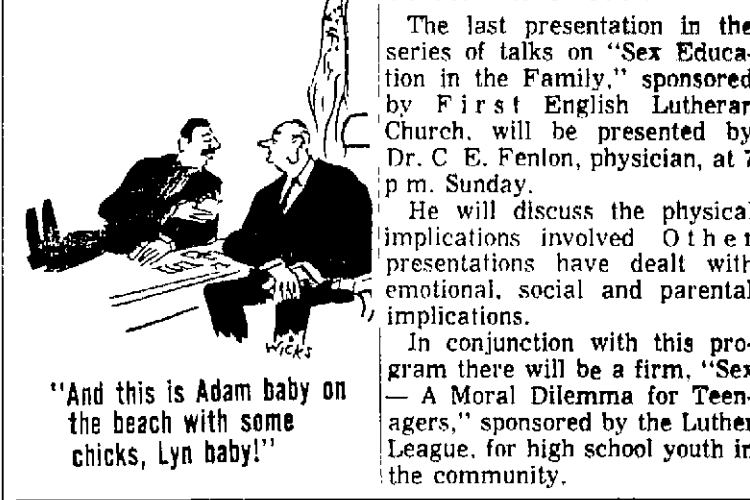

Attendance Falling
Presbyterian leaders admit that church attendance is falling in England and that Sunday school figures are down.

Lord MacLeod of Funnary, who as Dr. George MacLeod has long been one of Scotland's best known Presbyterian churchmen, blames church declining over sex and morality for causing people "to get their instruction on sexual matters from a character like James Bond."

"It is not that they are drunken or lecherous," he says of the young today. "They have simply and unconsciously embraced the obliteration of the sacred and the deification of the material."

The POWER of FAITH

Albrecht Durer, greatest of the Renaissance artists in Germany, was also one of the most devout painters in that period. His faith shone through his many works, and his illustrations of the Bible give us deep visual and spiritual insight into the Old and the New Testaments.

My drawing of Durer himself is after one of his own, and the praying hands are after one of the many studies he did for the altarpiece of the Assumption of the Virgin. These hands are familiar to most Christians, and to many of other faiths as well.

Durer was the first of the Protestant religious painters and his strong faith withstood criticisms of his action in turning to Martin Luther. His zeal is best explained in a letter he wrote in 1520 to the chaplain to Duke Frederick of Saxony:

"God helping me, if ever I meet Dr. Martin Luther, I intend to draw a careful portrait of him from the life and to engrave it on copper for a lasting remembrance of a Christian man who helped me out of great distress."

12 MASSIVE Search for DeSalvo

The assault charges were not connected with the stranglings. The Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser offered a $5,000 reward for information that would lead to the capture of DeSalvo "dead or alive."

Dr. George Anteblian, medical director at the hospital, said Harrison was "in a semicomatose from alcohol and drugs" and that Erickson had been drinking but had taken no drugs.

Near Baltimore? In Baltimore, Md., Friday night, a truck driver, James Johnson, 39, reported to police he had picked up a hitchhiker between York, Pa., and Harrisburg, Pa., on Route 83, and let him off in Baltimore. Johnson said the man looked like a picture of DeSalvo which he saw in a newspaper when he got home.

DeSalvo never has been indicted in the deaths of 13 Greater Boston women between June 1962, and January 1964, which were ascribed to the Boston strangler, but has said a number of times he committed the crimes.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment last month after a standing an estimated 5 feet 8 inches tall, with dark curly hair, and wearing dark glasses and black gloves, walked into the bank about 3:45 p.m. — 13 minutes before closing time, and took $4,694 at gunpoint.

Rozek said he obtained the money from Cashier Ronald Schuman, 28, Rosendale, opening the conversation by saying he "wanted a $3,000 loan to start a business in the vicinity."

When Schuman said he would have to talk to a bank officer, the man drew a hand gun, demanded money and scooped currency and cash from a nearby vault and cash drawers. He fled after locking Schuman in the vault.

Schuman pressed an alarm buzzer which signaled bank president Herbert A. Bluemke, operator of a store across the street. Bluemke rushed to the bank and summoned authorities.

FBI on Case All available Fond du Lac County police converged on the Rosendale area, and federal bureau of investigation agents moved in from Milwaukee and Appleton.

Authorities said the holdup man was reported as the same man who walked into the bank about 11 a.m. yesterday and asked a teller for a roll of quarters.

When he came back in the afternoon, he waited until all but one employee was left, just before closing time.

Rozek said he obtained fragmented reports there was at least one man in the getaway car, and possibly two, but did not elaborate.

Chief Jurrs said his department had checked out the area resident whose car met the description of the escape car. "From what we could learn, he was clear but they are checking him out again today," Jurrs said.

Winnebago County authorities said they had nothing to report.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks: Today let's talk about saving money on dry cleaning. Many of us are now using the do-it-yourself dry cleaning machines. But there are many who do not have transportation to get to these places, or they are too far from home and they have to send out their cleaning.

Are you aware that you can have your clothes dry cleaned without pressing? I went through a huge dry-cleaning plant recently and many of their out-going garments were cleaned only.

I was told by the manager to please let housewives know about this fabulous service. Not only is it cheaper but the dry cleaner does not have to do the pressing, which is the lesser of the two profits to him.

I tested his service. I learned that there are many, many things which do not even have to be pressed, such as corduroy garments, drip dry dresses, shirts and little kiddie clothes.

These clothes come back on hangers and most garments that I have had "just cleaned," do not even need touching up with an iron.

So next time you send your dry cleaning out, why don't you ask your driver if he has this service? I was told at a recent cleaners convention that every dry cleaner afforded this service to its customers.

You'll be surprised how much you will save. Comparing prices and service is what we need to lower our budgets.

The comments came at a crowded news conference in Knowles' office Friday as campus protests tapered off after four days of demonstrations against job interviews by Dow Chemical Corp., which manufactures napalm for use in Vietnam. Nineteen persons have been arrested.

"I continually deplore demonstrations of this kind," Knowles said. "... I hope we have seen the end of it."

When Starks started to search him, the youth attempted to reach for a gun. He tried to run but was wrestled to the sidewalk where he was disarmed and handcuffed.

Taken to the county jail after being viewed by Manney and Miss Lepak, the suspect was questioned by city and county authorities and by FBI agents. During the questioning, it was learned that the suspect had been drafted into the Army Feb. 15 and was in basic training at Fort Bliss, Texas, when he went AWOL, Sunday.

The car police allege Kealher was driving was later found parked in front of Taylor Stange Furniture store, a short distance from the First National Bank.

Some May Not Draw Trumps

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In the days when women wore skirts down to their ankles, a lady or a gentleman would draw trumps at the first opportunity. It was the refined thing to do. Today we look differently at skirts and at drawing trumps.

Declarer, a gentleman of the old school, won the first trick with dummy's ace of diamonds, and drew two rounds of trumps, with the ace and king. It was terribly genteel, but not very effective.

Declarer next led the ace of hearts and continued with the queen of hearts, intending to discard a club if East produced a low heart. When East actually played the king of hearts, South ruffed.

South ruffed a diamond in dummy and led a high heart. East ruffed with the jack of spades and promptly switched to the queen of clubs. The defenders took three club tricks, and South was down one.

Modern Play The modern way to play this kind of hand is to leave the trumps alone. At the second trick declarer cashes the ace of hearts and then ruffs out the king of hearts.

South ruffs a diamond in dummy and leads a high heart. The four-card diamond suit.

A few days ago my buddy took her out. It wasn't even a date, it was just a ride. He told me the next day that Val was a pushover and I ought to ditch her. I asked Val if what my friend had told me was the straight story and she said yes. Then she added, "It's that way with almost everybody."

Val insists she has never been in love and she is sure no body has ever loved her. Why then is she so free with her body?

Sparkman Fires Blast at Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama has fired an opening Democratic shot at the budding presidential campaign of Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney.

Sparkman, second-ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, accused Romney Friday of irresponsible, politically inspired criticism of President Johnson's policy in Vietnam.

"It disturbs me to see anyone jeopardize his country's welfare by fomenting unrest and uneasiness just to further his own political ambitions," Sparkman said.

The 1967 Civil Rights Bill

The contrast between the amount of public discussion which followed the President's proposed 1966 civil rights bill and the deafening silence which has greeted Mr. Johnson's similar proposal for the new Congress can be explained in political terms.

Because the 1966 bill proposed to move into the delicate area of discrimination in the sale and renting of housing, the bill died as a result of a Senate filibuster after being passed in amended form in the House. Many House members from urban areas feel they put their positions on the line last year — an election year — by voting for a bill with political risks, only to see it go down the drain without a roll call in the Senate. These House members will be reluctant to volunteer for pushing the 1967 proposal if the same thing is going to happen again in the Senate.

There also is no denying that a "go slower" message to the congressional establishment came from the elections last November, a fact whose responsibility must be shared by the more militant civil rights organizations. But this political climate should not eliminate a careful congressional examination of what the President has proposed.

Two of the President's proposals are identical to last year. He has asked for legislation to assure that there is no discrimination by race, religion, or sex in the selection of federal court juries and that the Department of Justice would be given power to attack such discrimination in the selection of juries in state and municipal courts. The President also has repeated a request to assure federal protection for persons blocked from exercising federally guaranteed rights, as voting, attending public school, using public accommodations, and using the rights of free speech and free assembly.

The Post-Crescent said last year that there was ample evidence to support the need for such legislation, though it was lost by insistence that the civil rights bill remain a package. This evidence still is present, and corrective measures could result if the subjects were separated from the difficult housing section.

As a result of the 1966 experience, the President has now proposed stretching out anti-discrimination measures over three years.

For 1967, anti-discrimination action would cover federally assisted housing, about four per cent of the nation's housing which, in fact, already could be covered by executive order. For 1968, the act would cover housing sold by someone other than the occupant and only those buildings with housing for five families or more. For 1969, the act would cover all housing except that of religious groups.

As amended by the House, the 1966 bill contained the "Mrs. Murphy's rooming house" clause which provided for exceptions similar to those in the President's request for 1968. For Wisconsin, it should be noted that the federal proposal would be similar to the 1966 state law which exempts single family dwellings and buildings with four housing units where one is occupied by the owner.

Critics of the Wisconsin law and, now, the President's request can say with justification that fighting discrimination cannot be put on a time schedule or cannot include exemptions. But it also is true that politics is the art of providing that which is possible.

The 1967 civil rights bill should be approached by Congress from this viewpoint. If the nation cannot agree on a means to reduce housing discrimination at this time, it should not mean that the Congress should fail again in providing protection in the fields of trial by jury and the exercising of legal rights in the fields of voting, education, public accommodations, free speech and free assembly.

Festival of Prayer for Unity

Voices of approval are certain to be raised over the Festival of Prayer for Unity which will be sponsored Sunday by the Appleton Area Association of Clergymen at Lawrence University Memorial Chapel. Ecumenism is a prominent factor in the religious dialogue which is marking our age and being felt in the Fox Cities. Many persons rightly will give support to this service as putting into practice the ecumenical spirit which they feel.

But there will be conscientious Christians and Jews who will not participate in this service. Their absence will be a concern to the organizers and participants in the service. But it will also be a test for those who cooperate in this endeavor of unity.

If the motives for organizing such a service are to further brotherhood and emphasize the common points which the two faiths possess, participants will respect the decision of certain of their brethren not to participate. Such decisions probably will be made by various members of the religious community. It will be difficult for many of the participants to understand how non-participation can be justified, or the principles which prohibit taking part.

But if the true ecumenical spirit is present, as planning for the event seems to indicate, those who participate in the service will not condemn their absent brethren for stubbornness and lack of vision. Rather they will attempt to understand the reasons of those persons who cannot in good conscience participate. They will try to extend their understanding to those whose thinking they may find hard to comprehend.

There will be seats marked by their emptiness Sunday. But the attitude toward the persons who do not fill those seats may be just as important as that which is felt toward those who do come, for both will provide a test of brotherhood.

Neighbors' Keepers?

In some of the colleges in the country, locally at Lawrence University, students have been asked to sign an honor code. Not only do they promise not to cheat but they pledge that they will report knowledge of others who do.

The system broke down dramatically at the Air Academy a couple of years ago and this month although the evidence does not clearly indicate that the honor system as such was at fault. But the whole matter of responsibility for the doings of others is not only a student problem.

Governor Paul Kirk of Florida has inaugurated a controversial private investigative agency because of what he terms widespread and well organized crime in Florida. Now he has appointed a man to encourage women's clubs and other civic groups to be watchdogs and to report to police possible violations of the law. The governor proposes that all citizens be asked to sign the following pledge: "As a citizen of Florida, I pledge to notify my local police authorities if I see a crime committed or if I believe one is about to be or is likely to be committed." There is certain to be an uproar over the pledge.

The various controversies over loyalty oaths in the country rather thoroughly show that a lot of Americans balk at statements aimed at proving what good guys they are. But the thing that seems to most bother both students and their older relatives is a promise to tattle on someone else.

We have the nauseous examples in totalitarian countries, both fascist and communist, of children encouraged to tell authorities about parental political deviations. But reporting a crime is obviously something else again. One reason crime statistics in small towns and rural areas are better than those in the crowded cities is that people in the small communities are concerned with their neighbors. Sometimes they are over-concerned, of course, and malicious gossip is the result. But the critics of some urban housing projects point out that they are so built as to insure not merely privacy but isolation from neighbors whose interest might be instrumental in protection.

There is a psychological difference too between life in small towns where everyone knows everyone else and his business and in the cities where privacy is jealously guarded. And while the urban existence does stress the individual's right to do as he pleases without even well-meaning interference, it also leaves him alone in a time of need. The rash of stories in the last few years of stabbings, robberies and other assaults ignored by passersby are indicative of the extent to which some big city dwellers insist upon remaining apart from their fellows.

Any American citizen ought to report a crime to the police. But we know full well that evasion of liquor laws, for instance, particularly among those under twenty-one, is done with the cooperation of a lot of people normally considered good citizens. Some evasions are a matter of degree. We would expect just about everyone in this area to report a man armed with a bayonet crawling in a neighbor's window or a stranger hitting some child on the head with an iron pipe. But how many would bother about the truck that speeds at sixty-five or the friend that offers a neighbor's nineteen year old son a highball?

The American society is geared by tradition against reporting even rather serious offenses. It developed from the oppressions of police states which so many of our ancestors came to this country to escape. The portrait of the busybody is ugly and ridiculous.

But each generation must deal with the particular threats of its time. Organized, violent crime is a serious threat in the United States and especially in the cities where people do not want to be held responsible for the actions of their neighbors.

Millions in Treasure Still Lies At Bottom of Old Spanish Main

BY BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Between the 16th and 18th Centuries, when Spain looted the rich Aztec and Inca empires of the New World, a cascade of gold, silver and jewels poured into ports on the Caribbean.

Once a year, Spanish galleons made the rounds of these ports. Then, laden with riches, they rendezvoused at Havana and sailed for Spain in two fleets under armed escort against the buccaneers roaming the tropic seas.

But many of the vessels did not make it home. Whole fleets, driven onto reefs by hurricanes, spilled their precious cargoes into the sea. Historians estimate that more than $1 billion in treasure went to the bottom of the Spanish Main.

Salvage crews sent out from Spain recovered much of the wealth. Pirates diving over the wrecks when they lay exposed in the clear waters got more of it.

MILLIONS STILL LEFT But uncounted millions in Spanish loot still lie along the route through the Florida Strait, up the Florida coast to Cape Kennedy, and across to the Bahama Banks.

As rot, rust and sea disposed of the hulls, the treasure sank into the ocean floor, until finally much of it was thought lost forever to the world.

But in recent years a new breed of treasure hunters has begun to dredge out of the sand riches beyond a man's wildest dreams.

These are men who did not rely on Lady Luck. They studied enormous numbers of old Spanish documents — naval histories, ships' logs, captains' letters, published accounts of witnesses — spelling out the locations of the lost galleons.

Then they went after their wrecks with sensitive metal detectors and expensive diving equipment. And when they found them they explored them with modern machinery and capable crews.

History's greatest recovery of treasure beneath the sea was made in 1964 by the Real Eight Company, now headed by a 59-year-old plasterer, Kip Wagner.

This group has taken millions in gold doubloons, silver pieces of eight, jewels and precious artifacts from ships of a treasure fleet under Adm. Jean Estaban Ullilla that met disaster in a hurricane in 1715.

ONE SHIP ESCAPED Only one of 11 ships escaped the storm. The others were shattered on reefs between Melbourne and Fort Pierce on the Florida coast, dumping from $14 million to $20 million in treasure and the bodies of 1,000 Spaniards into the turbulent waters.

One ship went down so close to shore it could almost be reached by wading at low tide. Many swimmers had flocked directly over the treasure trove.

Wagner's group has obtained exclusive rights from the state to explore eight of the galleons and it will be years before the full extent of the fabulous find is known. The state takes 25 per cent of all treasure recovered.

Another big strike was made by four young skin-divers just 1,000 yards off the resort city of Freeport on Grand Bahama island. They have taken out more than $1 million in silver coins.

Art McKee, a veteran Florida Keys treasure hunter, has located the bones of several galleons of a fleet of 19 sunk by a hurricane in the Florida Keys in 1733.

$65 MILLION IN TREASURE This fleet reportedly carried $65 million in treasure, including the entire 1732 output of the Spanish mint at Mexico City, but McKee has not struck it rich. The reason is that water off the Keys are crystal clear and the Spaniards probably were able to recover the bulk of the treasure.

"They salvaged $12 million in 1734," McKee says, "and they returned for 27 years. Obviously, they made good recoveries every year, or they wouldn't have kept coming back."

Several other wreck sites have been staked out in the Florida Keys and in the Bahamas, where the government also takes one-fourth of all finds.

Here and there along the main treasure vein, smaller fleets and single galleons vanished without a trace. But much of the treasure will lie forever on the bottom.

"One fleet of 28 ships vanished in 1822 between Florida and the Bahamas," McKee says, "and these may never be found. Coral grows so rapidly in these waters that ships lost that long ago would lie buried under reefs, with nothing showing."

But the lure of treasure is strong. As long as men think it is there, they will continue to search for it. The Florida coast will be the treasure coast for many a year to come.

Long-Range Plan for Higher Education Is Really No Plan at All

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the staff of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education last week finished writing a provisional draft of the long-awaited long-range plan for higher education in Wisconsin, state capitol correspondents were given advance copies to make it easier for them to report its contents. As the earnest and gentlemanly director Angus Rothwell of the staff put it, "the release of this information may help to bring sympathetic and helpful understanding of the many problems that all of us face."

Wyngaard

Mr. Rothwell and his associates may have been puzzled, and perhaps disappointed, as they observed the casual reception of their magnum opus. It was noted almost routinely in the press because the reporters who perused it found very little of what they call "hard news" in the thick and laboriously written volume. Almost surely it will draw irritated responses from those political policy makers, ranging from Gov. Knowles down, and in both political parties, who have been demanding for several years a more definitive planning program for the exploding higher education program which threatens to dominate state budgeting and state financing ever more forcefully.

LITTLE NEW REPORTED

Without denying the peculiar difficulties of the job, it is necessary to say that the report provides little assistance to those who must decide the future of higher education in Wisconsin.

Basically, it consists of a recitation of the present system, how it evolved, how it is operated, how much it costs, and what the Coordinating Committee is doing to honor its mandate to "direct and coordinate" it.

But there is almost nothing in it that provides any understanding of what the future will bring. Indeed the inevitable conclusion of the reader, sympathetic or critical, is that the committee which is in full charge of the program is prepared to continue what has developed in the past. More of the same is the theme.

It is fair to say that this is a "provisional" document, in the sense that it is the product of the staff and that the members of the committee have not yet reviewed it or approved it, at least officially. Yet the committee, consisting of busy private citizens devoting part-time to their tasks, is not likely to have the resources or the taste to revise substantially what its professional technicians have composed, or to prepare a new document on their own initiative.

"STUDY" NEEDS REPEAT-ED

A keynote of the volume is the assertion that problems and challenges that abound in this vastly important and critically expensive field of state service need "study." Yet the political officers of the state who gave authority to the CCHE believed that it would provide such "studies" and also some conclusions for their guidance. The first of 65 conclusions and "recommendations," as they are called, relates to the college drop-out problem and concludes that there ought to be a "cooperative study of admissions and retention policies and the articulation between high schools and higher education."

This evidently relates to one of the basic issues in higher education. But what precisely does it mean? And if studies have not yet been made, what has this superagency in the planning field been doing?

The apparent thesis of the report is the faith that permeates educational managers everywhere — that every dollar spent for education is wisely and fruitfully spent and that the only problem is to find more to spend. Shining through the document also is a conception of higher education that is shared by the public — that it is a matter of systems and institutions and separate programs, rather than the unity that was conceived by the men who created the Coordinating Committee as an instrument for central leadership and control.

A long-range policy and plan for a state government enterprise that will soon dwarf all others combined remains to be written. Perhaps it cannot be written, on the showing of the vain attempts of the last 10 years.

Patriots Should Continue Fight Against Communism

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Since the Twenty-Second Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union announced, in 1961, that anti-communism throughout the world must be destroyed, a vicious attack has been steadily mounting against every active anti-Communist.

From J. Edgar Hoover, a man whose brilliant record and sterling integrity once rendered him safe from public denunciation, to the humblest local patriot who tries to do something for his country against the Communist menace, defenders of liberty and foes of Communism have felt the lash of scorn and hatred.

Patriotism has been made a word of mockery, while millions have been assured (while a shooting war against Communism is going on in Vietnam) that Communists are "mellowing" and are really only a minor danger. Those who speak out for the values America stands for are vilified.

Their words and views are cleverly distorted in the communications media.

This massive concentration of fire on pro-Americans should suggest that the enemy fears their resolution and their devotion more than anything else. It is in truth the greatest tribute to the unquenchable flame of their loyalty. If patriots remain constant and continue to hold up their heads proudly under the barrage of attacks, eventually the tide will turn.

The fundamental American sense of decency and fair play will come to the rescue. People will begin to wonder why the critics and attackers of anti-Communists are so ruthless and vindictive. Eventually they will begin to understand the real motives and purposes of the "anti-anti-Communist". For if anti-communism can be destroyed, communism will inherit the earth.

Potomac Fever — by Jack Wilson

The White House press office is being enlarged. LBJ figures that if he can't bridge the widening credibility gap, he can at least provide it with decent quarters.

Gov. Reagan "asks" California state employees to work on Lincoln's birthday. Lincoln may have freed the slaves, but Ronnie insists there's no law against voluntary servitude.

They say LBJ and Bob Kennedy are feuding again. Never mind Vietnam—let's get a ceasefire along the Potomac before we worry too much about the Mekong.

Saudi Arabia wants to boycott Coca-Cola. They're loyal to home industries—they're going to make their own Saudi pop.

The Senate may install a loud speaker. Dirksen says he's just discovered that all swinging groups use amplifying systems for the record.

Johnson asks Republicans to help him in the White House. They'll be glad to—starting by showing him the way out.

Templar Paper Needs Reform

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 23, 1867.

The North-Western Advance, Janesville, the organ of the Good Templars in this State, is not altogether what it should be, or will be, if it receives the support to which it is entitled.

One of the first reforms should be to "empty its inwards," or, in other words, print its inside pages at home. Many norther and northeastern newspapers contain the same matter.

Another thing: Keep politics and sectarianism out of that paper. A Good Templar has the right to be an Israelite, Catholic or Methodist just as much as the Advance Editor has the right to be something else.

That paper is not the organ of either, as sectarian religionists.

A U.S. Navy training plan was outlined that day for the nation's colleges and universities.

At Weyauwega, a course in first aid training was being organized as part of the civilian defense program. Established under the Red Cross, a 12-week course was to be given at the high school. To be eligible for a Red Cross certificate, women or girls of high school age had to attend 10 of the 12 sessions. The committee in charge of the program

Current TV Season Year of the Feature

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the history of the 1966-67 television season is written, it may well be called the year of the feature movie.

No new series came along to electrify audiences, as did "I Love Lucy" and "Gunsmoke" in years past. No important trend in programs was detectable, as in the seasons when Westerns or family comedies took over.

The big news of the season came last fall with "The Bridge on the River Kwai." The immense rating for the three-hour showing on ABC started a gold rush for Hollywood feature movies, old and new.

Maybe "Gone With the Wind" — One of the men responsible for funneling feature movies to television audiences is Herbert S. Schlosser, West Coast programs vice president for NBC. He is firmly of the belief that all feature movies will eventually be seen on the home screen.

Even MGM's perennial gold mine, "Gone With the Wind" — "I think so," he said. "Even though MGM can still make millions with every reissue, they might want to put 'Gone With the Wind' on TV for one running and see what happens to its reissue value five years afterward." Note: MGM recently declined a $10-million offer for one showing of the Civil War epic on television.

That is one of the imponderables that film bigwigs enjoy pondering these days. Film stocks zoomed upward after the "Kwai" smash, the movie backlog suddenly becoming immensely valuable.

Films Cost More

Schlosser reported that feature films cost $200,000 for showings when NBC began its programming of movies on the network. The current average, $800,000.

NBC recently made deals for a reported $200 million to acquire features from the Hollywood studios. Industry estimates figure that in three years all of Hollywood's past product will have been shown on television. So far NBC has been the leader in replenishing that supply, with its "World Premiere" features made expressly for television by Universal.

"We are greatly pleased with what we have gotten," said Schlosser. "The ratings on the 'World Premiere' films have been as good or better than many of the top movies. None has done badly."

'Gleason' Blows Out 51 Candles

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — It's "The Great One's Birthday" on The Jackie Gleason Show and as you might expect he has collected some of his best, and more entertaining pals, for the occasion. On hand to blow out Gleason's 51 candles are singers Eydie Gorme and Frankie Avalon, dancer Gene Kelly and actor-impressionist Frank Gorshin.

7-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — Please Don't Eat the Daisies continues to play less and less attention to the Nash tots and more interest to their parents. In this humorous episode, Joan and Jim are confronted with a pesky pal (King Donovan) who moves into their home while his own is being fumigated.

7:30-8 (Channels 4-5) — "Where-What-How-Who-What?" on Get Smart gives Agent 86 an opportunity to do the old amnesia bit. After a car wreck, and the application of a devious pill from a KAOS doctor, he can't remember the details of a plot to kill some top space scientists.

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-12) — The cloak and dagger business on Mission: Impossible is pretty thick mainly because the principals involved are thick-headed. Kent Smith wants you to believe he is a volatile anti-Communist senator. Pat Hingle wants you to believe he is a rough-and-ready millionaire and the good senator's chief sponsor. Then the senator is killed — or so you are led to believe.

8-10 (Channels 4-5) — World Premiere: The Borgia Stick is the latest of the films made especially for television and for the most part it's the best of the lot. But this isn't saying too much. Filmed entirely in New York, the melodrama concerns the inner workers of big time crime trying to invade the "ivory halls" of big business.

8:30-9:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Beatles, in a somewhat subdued mood, turn up on The Hollywood Palace to demonstrate that they are still a well-tuned quartet. The boys, filmed in Liverpool, shake their mop heads and sing two new songs: "Penny Lane" and "Strawberry Fields Forever." Rest of the program, hosted by Van John-

Yuri Zhivago (Omar Sharif) and his foster-father Alexander Gromeko (Ralph Richardson) are greatly disturbed as they watch a turbulent workers' demonstration on the streets of Moscow. The movie version of Boris Pasternak's celebrated novel plays through Feb. 28 at the Viking Theater and March 7 at the Time in Oshkosh.

To Your Good Health

Vaccinations Justified To Elderly Skeptic

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: In your article about vaccinating sickly babies, and the child who had not been vaccinated, you asked, "What is there to look forward to? Eventually an adult who has no immunization at all?"

All my sisters and brothers were vaccinated and when I arrived, the youngest, I was not vaccinated because one of my parents decided in the negative.

Soon I'll be 70 and just passed a physical exam and am O.K. Will you please comment on that? In my childhood I had whooping cough, rheumatic fever, measles and sick headaches.—Mrs. F.D.

You were lucky; you also got a free ride — the benefit of vaccinations which others did have.

When you were a baby, smallpox vaccination was the outstanding one. Somewhat earlier in history, smallpox had killed as many as one person in every three or four. Increased use of vaccination protected some people directly, others indirectly.

A vaccinated person didn't get the disease. Therefore he didn't carry it to give to others. Epidemics became less intense and less frequent, although we still had them in the United States as late as the 1920's.

Let's just be glad you didn't encounter smallpox — because even though you weren't vaccinated, vaccination of others protected you.

Vaccination would have done nothing then (or now) for rheumatic fever or sick headaches. Today, whooping cough is prevented by vaccination, and measles vaccine is beginning to stamp out that disease.

Tetanus (lockjaw), diphtheria, polio and influenza are other principal diseases which can be controlled by vaccination.

The average life expectancy when you were born was about 47 years; now it is close to 70. Vaccination and prevention of deaths in babyhood account for a substantial part of that gain.

Some people lived to be 70 or more back in the days before any vaccines existed, and the phrase "three score and ten" came about. But not nearly as many people reached such maturity then.

Yes, people grow up without vaccination, but they are taking a chance. They also are not doing their share in general protection of the public.

Dear Dr. Molner, The doctors say my son should undergo a biopsy of the kidney to complete a series of tests. He has chronic nephritis and I am afraid that tampering with the kidneys will do more harm than good. I want the best for him. —Mrs. F.L.

Of course you do. Don't regard the biopsy as "tampering." Nephritis is a dangerous disease, and the doctors can cope with it intelligently only if they have all the information they can get. A kidney biopsy can give them such information.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a woman's fallopian tubes become infected and close up, do they stay closed after the infection clears up? Can she become pregnant?—T.D.

That cannot be predicted. Sometimes sufficient scar tissue results so the tube is completely closed; other times not. If one tube remains open, pregnancy is still possible.

Note to Mrs. H.N.: Except in most unusual cases, it is quite common to watch the progress of fibroid tumors in the uterus for some time before deciding whether they require removal. Rapid change in size; excessive bleeding; pelvic pain; and pressure symptoms would be among deciding factors.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

LaFollette Calls for Knowles to Request Resignation by Rahr

MADISON (AP)— Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette urged Gov. Warren F. Knowles today to call for the resignation of an old Knowles' ally, Guido Rahr of Manitowoc, from the State Conservation Commission.

The Democratic attorney general said that a U.S. Department of Interior report listed a Shakopee, Minn., malting company of which Rahr is board chairman as a major polluter of a Mississippi River tributary.

Actually, the Rahr plant was among 21 firms cited in a 1964 study of the Upper Mississippi river system, and was widely reported in Wisconsin at that time. The report said that the plant discharged three million gallons of cooling and wash water daily, but that 75 per cent of this was clean.

Rahr, a member of the conservation commission for 20 years, was named Wisconsin Conservationist of the Year last year, and National Conservationist of the Year last month.

'Operation Survival' Will Last Until Spring

MADISON (AP)— Wisconsin's "Operation Survival" project, a stunt designed to help curb highway accidents, is going over so well that it will be continued, until spring, the state Motor Vehicle Department reported Friday.

Under the plan, drivers join a survivor's club and receive a membership card and kits encouraging better driving.

Dan Schutz, safety director, noted that request for kits has exceeded 50,000 and expressed hope the extension would send the total to 100,000.

Rockets Post Perfect 14-0 M-E Record, 89-57

NHS Whips New London '5'

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — Neenah High School followed up an 11-point halftime lead with 52 markers in the last two periods to sink New London, 89-57, Friday night, thus closing out its Mid-Eastern Conference slate without a defeat.

The Rockets, in stretching their winning string to 16 successive games, concluded their regular schedule with a 17-1 chart. They became the second team in the 15-year, current 8-team makeup of the circuit to post a 14-0 mark. Kimberly, in 1958-59, was the first.

Neenah's Gary Losse failed in his bid to wrest the conference scoring leadership from Ron Jesse of Shawano. Losse pumped in 27 points, giving him 59 in the last two games, but Jesse posted 28 against Kimberly and the latter had an 8-point bulge going into the night's action.

New London, which finished league play with 4-10, scored the first two points but Neenah came up with the next seven and was in the driver's seat the rest of the way.

Reduce NHS Lead

The Bulldogs battled back with a string of seven points early in the second stanza to reduce Neenah's 11-point lead to four. But any hopes they had of a replay of the first meeting, won the Rockets, 79-76, were dispelled as the latter poured in eight of the next 10 markers enroute to a 37-26 halftime advantage.

Coach Doug Martin's crew extended its bulge to 18 points at the close of three segments and then outdid itself in the fourth, hitting 29 points to the visitors' 15, although reserves were shuffled in and out. The subs accounted for six of the 10 baskets in the quarter.

The Rocket plays worked as they were diagrammed on the blackboard and often conference champions would break away from the defense and in for uncontested layups.

Common Draft For Pro Teams Set March 14

AFL Expected to Agree to Plan Adopted by NFL

HONOLULU (AP) —The first common draft of professional football will be held Tuesday, March 14 in New York unless there are unexpected objections from the American Football League.

The National Football League ended its annual meeting Friday without announcing any format for the common draft with the AFL.

Instead of making any public statement about their proposals, Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the NFL owners were in touch with AFL people.

Resolve Situation

"We can be very close to agreement," Rozelle said. "There are some facets still to be worked out. I am hopeful we can resolve the situation by telephone in a week's time."

There is a strong possibility that, instead of separate drafts for regular seniors and redshirts, there may be no redshirt draft at all. A redshirt is a player with college eligibility remaining although his original college class has graduated.

The college stars regarded by pro scouts as the top redshirt possibilities are tackle Kevin Hardy of Notre Dame, tackle Maurice Moosman of Texas A&M and fullback Mike Hull of Southern California.

The AFL has conducted separate senior and redshirt drafts for years. At least in recent years, the NFL has had one draft in which all eligible college stars are included.

The AFL wanted two drafts, but several NFL clubs feared such action would have retroactive effect on trades of draft choices that were made before the two leagues got together in a merger.

Truckers Explode for Win Over Two Rivers

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville Truckers fought from a 31-all tie at the half to romp to an 84-58 win over the Two Rivers Raiders here Friday night. The Truckers exploded for 53 markers in the final two stanzas, against 27 for their foes.

Dale Steinke was the big gun for the Truckers, as he hit 14 points in the third period, and 32 for the night. Of those 32, 25 came in the last half, as he hit on 11 of 13 shots from the floor. Jack Bennett hit 15 for the Truckers, while Paul Hoffman added 10. For the Raiders, John Miller had 13, Tom Owens 12, and Tom McClair 10.

Papermakers Lose Early 19-8 Lead

Indians Trim Kimberly, 86-61

SHAWANO — Kimberly High School shot ahead 19-8 at the first quarter mark, but Shawano's Indians came roaring back in the final three quarters to notch an 86-61 Mid-Eastern Conference victory here Friday night.

The win gave the fourth-place Indians a 7-7 league record, lead, while the Papermakers tied the New London for sixth with a 4-10 mark.

Shawano's Ron Jesse led all to open a lead which held the scorers with 28 points which rest of the way.

Kavanaugh Leads 66-58 Win Ghosts Defeat 'Jays, Finish Second in M-E

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — The Galloping Ghosts rallied for eight straight points in the closing two minutes of the game to take a 66-58 win from the upset minded Menasha Bluejays here Friday night to clinch second place in the Mid-East Conference.

The game was anyone's ballgame through the first 30 minutes of the contest as the Jays showed why they racked up four straight wins before stumbling against the Ghosts.

Regulars Take Over

Coach Ken Vander Velden started an all senior lineup before a parent's night crowd and kept the unit intact through the first period as Menasha moved to a 19-12 lead. The Jays hit on nine of 15 floor shots while Kaukauna, which was cold all night, connected on five of 13 attempts. John Robinson controlled both backboards in the period.

Ghost regulars took over to start the second quarter and immediately began cutting into the Menasha lead as Dick Carstens and Dennis Spice began to take some rebounds away from Robinson. The winners cut the margin to 20-19 with about three minutes gone in the contest and moved to a 23-22 lead on a basket by Carstens with 4:05 showing on the clock. A 3-point play by Spice upped the margin to four points, but baskets by Ron Haack and two by John Robinson in the closing two minutes gave the Jays a 28-26 lead at the midway point.

Menasha tried only seven shots in the second period and hit on four while Kaukauna managed four of 13 from the floor. One of the Menasha attempts was a wild toss just before the buzzer sounded.

With Quinn Vanden Heuvel and Pat Kavanaugh taking over the scoring in the third frame, the Ghosts were able to move into a 46-43 lead. The pair accounted for 15 of the Kaukauna 20 points in the period, but the big play was a 3-pointer by John Jansen which moved Kaukauna into a 6-point lead midway through the period.

Within One Point

The Jays still had visions of an upset going into the final period and although never overtaking Kaukauna, managed to pull to within a point at 55-54 with 3:36 remaining on the clock. A jumper from the lane by Carstens was matched by a swisher from Robinson and then the Ghosts began playing positively.

Suspend Hockey Player 2 Games For Elbowing Ref

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Rousseau, flashy right winger of the Montreal Canadiens, was suspended for the National Hockey League team's next two games Friday by league president Clarence Campbell.

Rousseau was given a game misconduct penalty in the first period of Thursday night's game against Boston. Campbell said that Referee Art Skov's report stated the Montreal player had skated at least five feet out of his way to elbow the referee in the mid-section.

Rousseau will miss this week-end's games against New York and Chicago.

The action was the third of a similar nature that Campbell has taken within recent weeks. Earlier, he suspended for three games each Bernie Geoffrion of the Rangers and John Ferguson of the Canadiens.

Hawks Hold Off Late Surge By Zephyrs for 57-54 Win; Knights Trim Springs, 70-54

BY TOM VANDER PAS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — Appleton Xavier's High School Hawks, one of the state's top-ranking basketball teams, got a mighty scare from lowly Menasha St. Mary Friday night, before a ligning themselves opposite Oshkosh Lourdes in the Region 5 tournament finale to be played tonight at the Brown County Arena.

It took a pair of free throws by the Hawks' Brad Graff with five seconds left in the game to ward off a 20-point last-quarter spurt by the Zephyrs and preserve a narrow, 57-54, Xavier triumph.

Lourdes' Knights eased into the championship bracket earlier by thumping St. Mary Springs of Fond du Lac, 70-54.

It looked like the tourney's final berth was settled after Xavier mushroomed a 32-25 halftime advantage into its widest margin, a 13-point spread climaxed by Tom Heinritz's field goal with 1:15 left in the third quarter.

Peck Away

Trailing, 45-32, at that stage, St. Mary pecked away a point or two at a time, finally narrowing the gap to 53-47 on a Mike Heroux goal with 3:20 remaining in the contest.

A Xavier stall coupled with a batch of missed free throws combined to consume all but 25 seconds, before Dan Hardy's tip-in effort upped the Hawks' lead to 55-47.

After the Zephyrs' Pat Hermus notched a charity toss and Marc Haberman added two more following a quick Xavier foul, Heroux pilfered a Hawk throw-in and bagged another 2-pointer, cutting the St. Mary deficit to 55-52 with 11 seconds showing.

In the Menashans' haste to get hold of the ball again, Xavier's Brad Graff was fouled, setting the stage for his pair of gitters with five seconds left.

The loser's Mike McClone still had time to pocket a final-second shot to close out the scoring.

Extend String

In extending their unbeaten string to 13 and their season log to 20-1, the Hawks were paced in scoring by Gene Jack with 16 points. Pat Fitzgerald and Heinritz followed with 12 and 11 tallies, respectively.

Mike Gage took game honors for the Zephyrs with 17 points, including 12 in the first half. Heroux and Hermus were next

Wildcats, Manitowoc Share Title; AHS Finished With 10-6

GREEN BAY — The Appleton Terrors waited until 4:27 had elapsed in the first period to tally a marker, and fell to the Wildcats of Green Bay West, 56-49 Friday night.

The Wildcats owned a 6-0 advantage, and with 4:27 remaining, George Hoffman netted a free throw. Tom Hintz hit on a jumper from the top of the key at 1:56 and the Terrors finished the period with their most barren quarter of the year, 12-3.

A factor in the low-scoring period for the Terrors was that AHS committed eight turnovers. Jerry Tagge netted six of the 12 markers for West in the opening stanza. Tom Jones chipped in with a free throw, and the Terrors found themselves down by 33-23. Ends Sobocinski's Skein at 26 in State High Wrestling Title

MADISON (AP)— Top-ranked individual wrestlers have survived the opening rounds in the state high school championships. But defending king Coleman High has fallen by the wayside.

Leading team competition going into the final of the state tournament today were Racine Park with nine points, Monroe with eight, and Mineral Point with seven each.

Park's Panthers advanced four entries into the semifinals. Monroe had three survivors.

McFarland's Mike Medchill, undefeated in 108 career matches, narrowly slipped by Dave Mahoney of Muskego on a referee's decision. The pair tied 2-2 in the bout, then 1-1 in overtime.

Medchill, seeking to become the first Wisconsin wrestler to string together three undefeated seasons, won the state title in 1966 at 95 pounds and in 1966 at 103. He is entered at 120 pounds this year.

Defending Champ Wins

The only other defending champion in the meet, Steve Wuetrich of Monroe, easily topped Ellsworth's Charles Kenall 5-0 in the quarter-finals of the 103-pound class this year.

All-State football player Mike Sobocinski of South Milwaukee had his victory string snapped at 26 by once-beaten Ronald Fandrick of Manitowoc in a 2-1 decision in the heavyweight class.

Nineteen perfect marks have been marred thus far. But seventeen still belong to the remaining 48 entries in the dozen weight classes.

Schofield, Neillsville and Pulaski tallied six team points Friday, followed by Madison East, Ellsworth, Berlin and Coleman with five each.

Coleman, which had won the title five times in the last seven years, had only one wrestler reach the semifinals. Colin Kiziger, who ran his record to 22-1 by outpointing previously unbeaten Mike Lepein of Hartford 11-3.

Debate Topic Explained

Teacher Salary Index Boils Anew

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — The salary index plan was a central topic of a public meeting Thursday night to discuss teachers' salaries but a number of people learned for the first time then that the plan had been dropped by the board of education. The plan was a recommendation made in 1962, by a citizens' teacher salary study committee headed by William Platt to resolve school board-teacher common council conflicts over teachers' salaries.

This voluntary committee, appointed by the board of education, presented a four-part plan for teachers' salaries; the city council gave its nod of approval in November, 1962, the Menasha school board gave its official unanimous approval on June 10, 1963, and teachers on the staff at that time approved.

Briefly, the index plan provided: Part I — a 12-step program for teachers with bachelor degrees only, with base pay of $4,700 and top pay after 12 years of teaching pegged at $7,614.

Part II — A 12-step program for teachers with bachelor degrees, plus 15 additional credits in their area of specialization, ranging from a base pay of $5,076 to a top salary after 12 years of $8,319.

Part III — A 20-step program for teachers with master degrees, ranging from a base pay of $5,452 to a top after 25 years of $10,058.

Part IV — A 30-step program for teachers with masters' degrees, plus 24 credits, ranging from a base of $5,828 to a maximum after 30 years of $10,904.

The citizens' committee built other features into the plan's two-pronged purpose — to compensate a teacher for education and experience and provide additional compensation as "merit pay."

Merit pay was provided for teachers of outstanding teaching ability to encourage them to continue to rise above mediocrity in their teaching and to pursue teaching as a profession.

This additional compensation could be provided by an increment above the base schedule dependent upon their continued superior performance as well as by increments above the top of the base schedule to encourage the superior teacher to continue in the profession.

Advancement on the salary schedule had to be approved by the teacher's principal.

LaFollette Ruling

Menasha Police Learn Can't be Aldermen Too

MENASHA — Local policemen have been told by the state attorney general that their job prevents them from seeking election as aldermen.

Roy Rollins, president of Local 34, Wisconsin Professional Policemen's Association, asked Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette for a ruling on the matter after it came up in discussion among members of the association, Rollins said today.

La Follette, in an informal ruling issued Friday, said the positions are incompatible because aldermen set police salaries.

Rollins said he had requested the ruling about a week ago. Aldermanic elections will come up in April, but nominations have closed. Rollins said none of the interested policemen had considered running this year, anyway.

The police association and the finance committee of the Menasha council have been deadlocked since the end of last year in negotiations for a 1967 salary and benefit contract for policemen.

Tracks Open at Accident Site Near Medina

Railroad Plagued By Drifting Snow At Butte des Morts

Service was restored late Friday night on a section of Chicago and North Western Railway Co. track torn up Thursday night when 13 cars of a northbound freight train derailed at Medina Junction, between Larsen and Medina.

A railroad spokesman said this morning that although the north-south track is open, a train was running late because of heavily drifted snow over the roadbed near Butte des Morts.

Workmen labored in below-zero temperatures most of Friday to restore service on the line. A nine-unit train, including a large wrecker-crane, was moved in from Green Bay about 7:45 a.m. Friday, and remained at the scene until about 10 p.m.

Four Put Back

Four gondolas were put back onto the tracks, two of them in the morning and the other two late Friday afternoon. Nine other cars, including eight box cars and an empty tanker, were tipped onto their sides along both sides of the roadbed and will be moved out next week, it was learned.

All nine of the cars still at the scene were believed to be extensively damaged, although railroad officials have made no estimates.

Nor have the officials found a cause of the 7 p.m. accident that for a time tied up Soo Line Railroad traffic on east-west tracks that cross the spot of the derailment.

However, workmen at the scene late Friday said that intense cold over prolonged periods often results in rail damage, and this could have been a factor in the Thursday night mishap.

Another spokesman said it might be some time before a cause can be found. He said the wheels and undercarriages on the damaged cars probably will have to be closely inspected.

After clearing the damaged cars from the roadbed, workmen laid several new sections of rail Friday.

Failing to Pay For Pizza Brings Fine, Jail Term

Timothy Selig had an expensive pizza Feb. 9.

It wound up costing him $25 and costs and three days in the Outagamie County Jail.

Selig, 19, of 318 E. Lincoln St., appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon on a theft charge brought by Pat Earl, operator of Frank and Pat's Pizza Palace, 815 W. College Ave., who said the youth left his place without paying for a pizza and soft drink the evening of Feb. 9. The bill amounted to $2.25, Earl told the court.

Selig, who appeared with an attorney, pleaded no contest and was found guilty. The youth is on probation, the court was told.

Judge Keller, after learning his coat and I saw the gun," that Selig is to report to work at an Appleton paper firm at 3 p.m. Monday, ordered the youth, 11, placed in jail until 1 p.m. Monday.

Rev. E. C. Dahl Accepts Call to Eastern Church

Resignation of First Congregational (UCC) Minister Since 1962 Takes Effect in April

The Rev. Edward C. Dahl, pastor of First Congregational United Church of Christ (UCC) since 1962, has announced his resignation and accepted a call to the Garden City Community Church, Long Island, effective in April.

Rev. E. C. Dahl

The resignation was announced in a letter received by congregation members today.

A native of New Haven, Conn., and graduate of Harvard College, the Rev. Mr. Dahl received his ministerial training at the Union Theological Seminary in New York City and at the Yale Divinity School, from which he graduated in 1941.

He was a student pastor in Eden Mills, Vt., and served as minister in East Northfield, Mass., Brattleboro, Vt., and New Britain, Conn., before coming to Appleton.

In New Britain he guided the 200 year old congregation in moving from the center of the city to a new church in the residential area.

During the Rev. Mr. Dahl's pastorate in Appleton, the congregation, following studies and recommendations by a planning committee, has voted to build a new church building on East South River Street. A building fund of $630,000 has been raised.

While in Appleton the minister has been active in church and community affairs. He is presently serving as moderator of the Northeast Wisconsin Association of the UCC and as president of the Appleton Area Association of Clergymen. He has also served as chairman of the department of higher education and of church and ministry of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church and as director of the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health.

The Garden Church has a membership of 2,242 and is presently staffed by four ministers. The Rev. Mr. Dahl succeeds the Rev. Dr. Fred Hoskins, one of the original co-pastors of the UCC.

A 19-year-old Teller at the First National Bank, Waupaca, remained calm during an attempted bank robbery, Friday night, and as a result the would-be robber left empty handed. Miss Angie

Angie Lepak 'Kept It Cool'

Would-Be Robber Falls for Waupaca Bank Teller Bluff

WAUPACA — "I played dumb and it worked," Angie Lepak, a teller at the First National Bank said after a 19-year-old youth attempted to rob the bank here Friday night.

Miss Lepak, who also is 19 and has been employed at the bank since last July, was the teller singled out by David Kealisher, the suspect, as the person he would demand $2,000 from. By fast thinking, Miss Lepak was able to stall the youth until he became frightened and fled from the bank empty handed.

After being outsmarted by the 19-year-old bank teller, the youth turned on a 14-year-old service station attendant and was successful in obtaining $46 which he was able to keep for only 28 minutes before he was arrested by police.

Kealisher is being held in the county jail and has been charged with attempted armed bank robbery and armed robbery.

At Window

Miss Lepak was at her tellers window near the front of the bank shortly after 6 p.m. Friday, when a youth walked into the bank, went to a counter in the center of the lobby and scribbled a note on a deposit slip. He was not noticed by Miss Lepak until he came to her window and shoved the note across the counter. It said, "I have a gun go calmly and get me $2,000."

Startled, Miss Lepak said, "I thought it was some kind of a joke but then he reached into his coat and I saw the gun."

"I haven't got $2,000," she said. "Go to the vault and get it," the youth replied. Not wanting to startle the holdup man into using the gun, Miss

Lepak holds the note demanding $2,000 which was handed to her. A 19-year old Amherst youth has been taken into custody in connection with the attempted robbery. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Lepak remained calm and told him that there were only safety deposit boxes in the vault. "If this were a check you could cash it," the suspect continued, but Miss Lepak replied that she did not have that much money in her cage because she handled only loans.

"While I was talking to him I continued to raise my voice in hopes that one of the other tellers would hear me, but they were all busy with other customers," Miss Lepak said. "At one time I started to pull my hands back off the counter and sound the alarm but when I did he started to draw the gun from his coat so I put my hands back on the counter so he could see them," she said.

Dark Cap

As Miss Lepak talked to the youth she saw that he was approximately 5 feet, 10 inches tall, was thin, had sharp features, had on a dark cap with fur trim that he had pulled down over his ears and was wearing a dark Navy pea coat. This is the description she gave to the head cashier and police and as a result led to his capture.

Getting nowhere in his efforts to convince Miss Lepak that she should give him $2,000, the youth grabbed the note from the counter and fled from the bank.

She didn't know at the time that approximately one hour later she would come face to face with the youth again, but this time under different conditions. "I was a little scared at the time I was talking with him, but it really hit me when police came walking into the bank leading him and they laid his gun on the desk," Miss Lepak said.

At the Bell Service Station, where the suspect held up 14-year-old Ronald Manney at gunpoint and took $46, the quick action of the youth helped police. After taking the money, the suspect told Manney to keep quiet about the holdup and then fled from the station, but the youth watched which direction the suspect ran and then raced to a telephone to call his father who in turn called police.

The Town of Grand Chute Friday formally requested Outagamie County to renew charges against Stokley - Van Camp Inc., which built a migrant labor camp on N. Casaloma Drive.

Town attorney Don Herrling, in a letter to county corporation counsel A. W. Ponath, asked the county to "take steps to enforce the county zoning ordinance." The letter was the result of a meeting of town supervisors Thursday.

Calumet Jury Finds Conservation Club Innocent on Zoning

BRILLION — The Brillion Conservation Club was judged innocent Friday to a charge of operating a commercial business at its clubhouse in the Town of Rantoul.

The charge, brought against the club by Calumet County, was filed last year by the county's chief zoning administrator after several area residents complained of noise from the trap-shooting range.

A plea of not guilty was entered on the club's behalf by its attorney, William Hertel. Judge Harold Mueller of Manitowish heard the case in the circuit court at Chilton.

Dist. Atty. Frank Schneider represented the county at the trial. A six-man jury deliberated 40 minutes after both sides had been heard.

Trial started at 10 a.m. and the verdict was delivered at 5:45 p.m.

Shooting a Sport

The jury ruled that selling beer at the clubhouse was not in violation of the zoning ordinance. Two other issues involved were ruled on by Judge Mueller. He said the trap shooting was a sport not a commercial endeavor.

He also ruled that rental of the clubhouse to civic organizations for their meetings was not a violation of the zoning ordinance.
